

LINK UNIVERSITY

LINK Campus University is a modern university with an ancient heart, an open and inclusive community that proposes a multidisciplinary educational project aimed to enhance the students' culture and skills, but also to offer concrete qualifications, discover talents and face the challenges posed by the labour market.

Link Campus University (LCU) is a private university in Rome, founded in 1999 as a subsidiary of the University of Malta in Italy. Twelve years later, LCU established itself as an independent institution of higher education, governed by the Italian regulatory system for universities. It was recognized as such by the Italian regulation decree: Ministry of Education, University, and Research Decree No. 374, 21st September 2011.
